

Firstline

Ergonomic Task Chair

Proudly designed and manufactured in Australia, the Gregory Firstline is a ground-breaking ergonomic chair specifically crafted for the unique needs of our front-line workforce. Developed in conjunction with Police and Emergency services, the Firstline delivers on comfort, functionality, and durability, ensuring maximum performance even in demanding work environments.

Gregory Firstline Ergonomic Chair for Front Line Environments

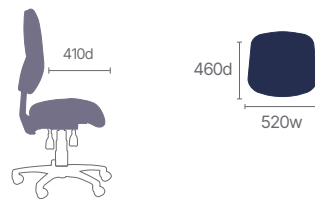

The Gregory Firstline features a strongly tapered lower seat back and a wide, tapered seat design. These unique elements provide superior freedom of movement, making it ideal for individuals who require mobility while seated. The chair's design provides optimal support while wearing belt-attached equipment and significantly reduces abrasion points when wearing tactical belts.

The Firstline offers enhanced lumbar and integrated spine support for increased shoulder spacing. Its high back design ensures superior comfort, while the user-friendly 3-level independent mechanism allows effortless adjustments. With durability in mind, the chair is AFRDI 142 – Rated Load – 160kg MS Certified, attesting to its robust construction and superior quality.
